

MASHBUILD

Signature Finish:
Tawny Port

Tawny ports spend more time in the barrel than conventional port wines. You know what that means? That means... that the flavor imparted by the barrel finish will be extra-rich.

Each of our signature batches brings out a slightly different expression of what bourbon can be.

The base of Mashbuild comes from bourbon distilled in 2000, 2001, 2004, 2006, and 2007 from prominent distilleries in Kentucky, Indiana, and Tennessee including Four Roses and the old Seagram's distillery. These fine bourbons provide a strong, traditional backbone to all of our Mashbuild blends.

We complement this foundation with both traditional and contemporary newer bourbons from from Colorado, Kentucky, and Indiana distilled with sweet corn, bloody butcher corn, and dent corn. We hand-select every bourbon for nose and taste to ensure they are compatible with the other bourbons in the Solera.

Each batch of Mashbuild has its own signature taste because of our Solera aging process: the continuing maturation of the bourbons that have been there longest combined with the punch of the newer stock.
